Our business is called Holland High Lift and we're located in East Bethany NY just outside of Batavia. We've been renting, selling, and repairing aerial lifts since 1982. We're a family owned company and we are currently a dealer for JLG, Genie, and SkyJack lifts. We currently have several full time shop technician positions open.

Tier I Tech-

A tier 1 tech is our highest level of shop personnel. Tier 1 techs are not only competent mechanics they're also knowledgeable about aerial lifts in particular. Tier 1 techs are able to troubleshoot, initiate, and complete repairs with little or no outside assistance or advice. Tier 1 Techs pay ranges from $34.00 to $40.50 with a potential bonus for frequent road work.

Tier 2 Tech-

Tier 2 techs are competent mechanics with at least several years of experience but are generally not very knowledgeable about aerial lifts as those skills can take time to acquire. This often applies to a skilled mechanic that comes from another mechanical specialty like automotive, diesel, heavy truck, or agricultural machinery repair. Tier 2 techs are likely to require outside input to complete more advanced repairs. Tier 2 Techs pay ranges from $28.00 to $34.00.

Tier 3 Tech-

Tier 3 techs are our entry level position. Basic mechanical knowledge is required but we expect this applicant to need regular consultation on repair techniques. Some Tier 3 Techs may have certain specific aptitudes that allow for pay in the higher end of their range. A possible example is knowledge in tire repair. Tier 3 Techs pay ranges from $24 to $28.00.

Regardless of tier of the technician benefits include a retirement plan with company match, available health insurance with a potential bonus for those not requiring coverage, employee life insurance policy, sick days, paid holidays, and paid vacation days.
